Introduction

The Purpose of the Report

This report accompanies the planning application for the proposed works to demolish the existing maintainance building and the formation of a new Maintainance building within the George V Park in Melksham.

Introduction

The site was purchased by the Melksham Cricket Club in 1905, known as 'Cricket Pitch Field' and a large area of the site was reprofiled during this period to better accommodate the cricket oval.

The site was not publicly accessible until it became King George V Playing Fields in 1937. It was purchased as a public open space for Melksham in September 1937 following donations of both money and land to commemorate the death of King George

It has been a valued part of Melksham town centre ever since forming the backdrop to and location of many cherished memories for the people of the town and visitors alike.

Generally speaking the park remains a popular destination and focal point within the town, however there are key features such as the paddling pool and the cricket pitch which have ceased to satisfy their original function or have come to the end of their economic use and have had to be removed.

Site

View of Existing maintainance building from the East

View of Existing Maintainance building from the South West

Location

As illustrated on the maps opposite and below, the park is located within the centre of Melksham, on the River Avon in Wiltshire. The site is bounded to the south and east by car parking and roads and on the north west and southern boundaries by waterways.

The River Avon runs along the north western boundary providing open views along the river corridor and over toward the Cooper Tires factory on the opposite side of the river. To the south is the vegetated corridor of Clackers Brook, an overgrown bank with a shallow water course susceptible to flash flooding events.

The park is largely open in character dominated by the large mown grass playing field at the centre. Buildings within the park are spread along the northern edge, Tree planting is grouped around the perimeter of the park.

The site is largely flat with steeper slopes to the edge of the sports pitch where the terrain slopes toward the River Avon and Clackers Brook.

Existing Building

The existing Maintainance shed is a rendered single story derelict structure withe corrugated metal roof.

Policy for use of land in the ownership of Melksham Town Council by a third party

Parks and playgrounds are important community facilities and are provided for the free enjoyment of residents and visitors. We are very supportive of activities that help promote the health of our residents and build a strong community.

Access to park facilities shouldn't be unduly restricted to members of the public because of organised commercial activities, and we therefore require all such activities to be preapproved by the Council.

We also believe that those making financial gain from park facilities should contribute to their upkeep and improvement, to ensure we provide the best possible facilities for our residents.

1.0 Types of Requests

Requests to use Council owned land for a variety of activities and events are regularly received from: members of the public, private organisations, charitable bodies and others. These requests include:
